Implementation of ecological activities under the Erasmus + Wow-wonders of waste project September 2019 - February 2020

Erasmus+

Creating MR RUBBISH and HIS FAMILY

Composting - Children and their parents bring kitchen waste and organic material to fill the composter.

"We're sowing rubbish" - We care for our Earth

"Flea market" - the organization of the undertaking actively involved children and their parents. Anyone who brought an unnecessary but undamaged toy could exchange it for another, giving old toys a "new life".

Activities with Rose of Jericho

Experiments with water What sink floats?

Wandering water - an enchanted drop of water,
mix colors by blowing paint with a straw

Learning colors using secondary materials (plastic caps)

Meeting with the cleaning company "Sinat". Classes concerned cleaning methods in harmony with nature - using natural agents instead of chemical detergents.

The children prepared 'ecological' cleaners on various surfaces by themselves, using ingredients available in every kitchen, such as vinegar, citric acid, baking soda.

Sports competition with the use of waste materials - improving cooperation in a group - playing "snowball fight" with the use of newspapers - developing visual-motor coordination and strengthening of hand muscles - exercises to improve the correct posture using waste materials

Body lateralization exercises using waste materials

Visit to the park - we are looking for objects and materials that should not be in this place

Ornamental herbs with the use of glass jars and natural plants

We sow and plant

The use of waste materials for planting and sowing plants

Our other activities related to raising awareness about the use of waste materials carried out as part of the European Week for Waste Reduction Implementation of a sensory mat

Classes on the processes that occur on Earth that affect global warming

Segregujemy

Making posters - stop wasting food

Artwork - toys

Earth does not belong to man, man belongs to Earth. Whatever happens to Earth will happen to man. Man has not woven the cobweb of life - he is a thread in this cobweb. So if it destroys the cobweb, it destroys itself.
